

Returns and Refunds Policy

Thank you for shopping at TheTrafficGeeks.com

Services:

Before requesting a refund, please make sure that you install either the stat counter tracking code or google shortening url onto your website address that is being advertised. If for some reason, these two third party tracking companies shows a discrepancy with our tracking results, we will be more than happy to credit your campaign for any undelivered visitors. At any time you wish to discontinue services, please make sure that you pause your campaign before contacting us for a pro-rated refund for undelivered visitors.

Digital Products:

We do not issue refunds for products that have been delivered. But, if for any reason we failed to deliver your digital goods within 24 hours after your purchase, we recommend that you contact us for any assistance if you experience issues in receiving or downloading our products before requesting for a full refund.
